

It's My Time...What Matters Most?

Our role as husband, father, gatekeeper and guide provides Christian men ample opportunities to choose between the urgent and important. We are the most influential voice in the life of our families. What we do with the time we have with our kids and spouse is crucial as we lead them through the decisions of life. Our words, your words are powerful. Join our facilitated panel of fathers and husbands as we have an honest discussion about identity, purpose and legacy.

- What is one thing I can do now to show more love to my children?
- What is one thing I can do now to spend more time with my children?
- What is one thing I wish someone had done for me or shown me how to do when I was growing up?
- (For each child) One word to describe my ____yr old son/daughter is _____. Why?
- When do we know we are disconnected from our spouse and kids?
- How does that affect our relationship with our children?
- What are some of the best places to have "dad talks?"
- Has there ever been a time, or something that I have done that has caused you to fear me?
- (For us to ask our kids before hand?)
- What is your favorite thing about me as a dad? What do you love about our relationship?
- What concerns do I have about times that I didn't (or don't) allow my spouse to be a part of a parenting moment?
